NOTES FROM THE DEAN

Dear Friends:

I am continually thrilled by the music-making that occurs in New Mexico. As I write this, I am looking forward to a performance of the Fauré Requiem by the choir of St. John's UMC in Albuquerque under the direction of Matthew Greer on Saturday, February 16 and a performance by New York Polyphony on Friday, February 22, hosted by Maxine Thévenot at the Cathedral of St. John in Albuquerque. Let's not forget the weekly TGIF performances at First Presbyterian Church in Santa Fe: Linda Raney does an amazing job of keeping this vital weekly event engaging and relevant.

On Saturday, March 9, Nancy Granert will be giving a lecture recital on early Spanish organ music at St. Luke Lutheran Church in Albuquerque. Nancy has a wonderful understanding and flair for this music, and I know that anyone who attends will gain a great introduction that will help kick-start an exploration of this repertoire. Nancy studied for three summers with Monserrat Torrent in Spain, so she understands the cross rhythms, use of reeds, and unusual ornaments during this period. This music is captivating for both professionals and people who have never heard it before. I hope you will attend this exciting event!

We have a fantastic website (www.agoabq.org, managed by Evelyn Henson) that has all sorts of important information. It includes performances, available jobs, chapter events, and many other bits of information. Our website is only as good as the information that you send, so please send any information that you have to Evelyn (editor@agoabq.org) so that she can post it on the website. Evelyn has even posted some AGO videos of technical organ issues under "organ teachers;" some videos are basic, and some are more advanced, but perhaps there is a question for which you have been looking for the answer – and it's on our own website!

Fred Graham

WELCOME TO NEW MEMBER

MEMBER DIRECTORY

Please monitor your own entry on our Chapter website's online directory at:

<https://agoabq.org/membership/member-directory/> This passworded directory is updated each month, and it does reflect the AGO HQ database information as of the date of the update. If you allow your AGO HQ membership to expire, you will also disappear from our online Chapter directory. We would really appreciate it if you could ensure your AGO HQ database information is complete and up-to-date with addresses, telephone numbers and current employer. The link to the HQ membership section is on our Membership page. If anyone has lost or forgotten (or never had) the password to the Chapter online directory, please contact me at editor@agoabq.org. Thanks.

CHAPTER FACEBOOK PAGE

While our website is our main internet shop window, many people spend more time on Facebook these days. If you have a Facebook newsfeed, why not “like” our Chapter Facebook page, and get a copy of whatever is newly posted, direct into your own newsfeed, as soon as it is posted.
